Preface

The Global Center for Democratic Governance (GCDG) presents this report to document custodial deaths in Bangladesh during the 22-month period from September 2024 to June 2026. The report records more than 100 custodial deaths and highlights serious concerns regarding the protection of the right to life, due process, and accountability within the criminal justice system.

The documented cases raise profound concerns about the continued occurrence of deaths in state custody, the effectiveness of judicial oversight, and the enforcement of the rule of law. They also point to persistent allegations of arbitrary detention, denial of fair trial guarantees, and impunity for those responsible for human rights violations. Restrictions on media freedom, censorship, and the intimidation of journalists and human rights defenders have further limited independent scrutiny of custodial deaths. Consequently, the actual number of custodial deaths and related human rights violations may be significantly higher than those documented in this report.

This report seeks to provide a factual record based on available information and to encourage transparency and accountability. Every death in state custody requires a prompt, independent, impartial, and effective investigation in accordance with international human rights standards.

The Global Center for Democratic Governance calls upon the Government of Bangladesh to uphold the rule of law, protect the fundamental rights of all persons deprived of their liberty, and ensure that all allegations of custodial abuse and unlawful deaths are investigated without delay.

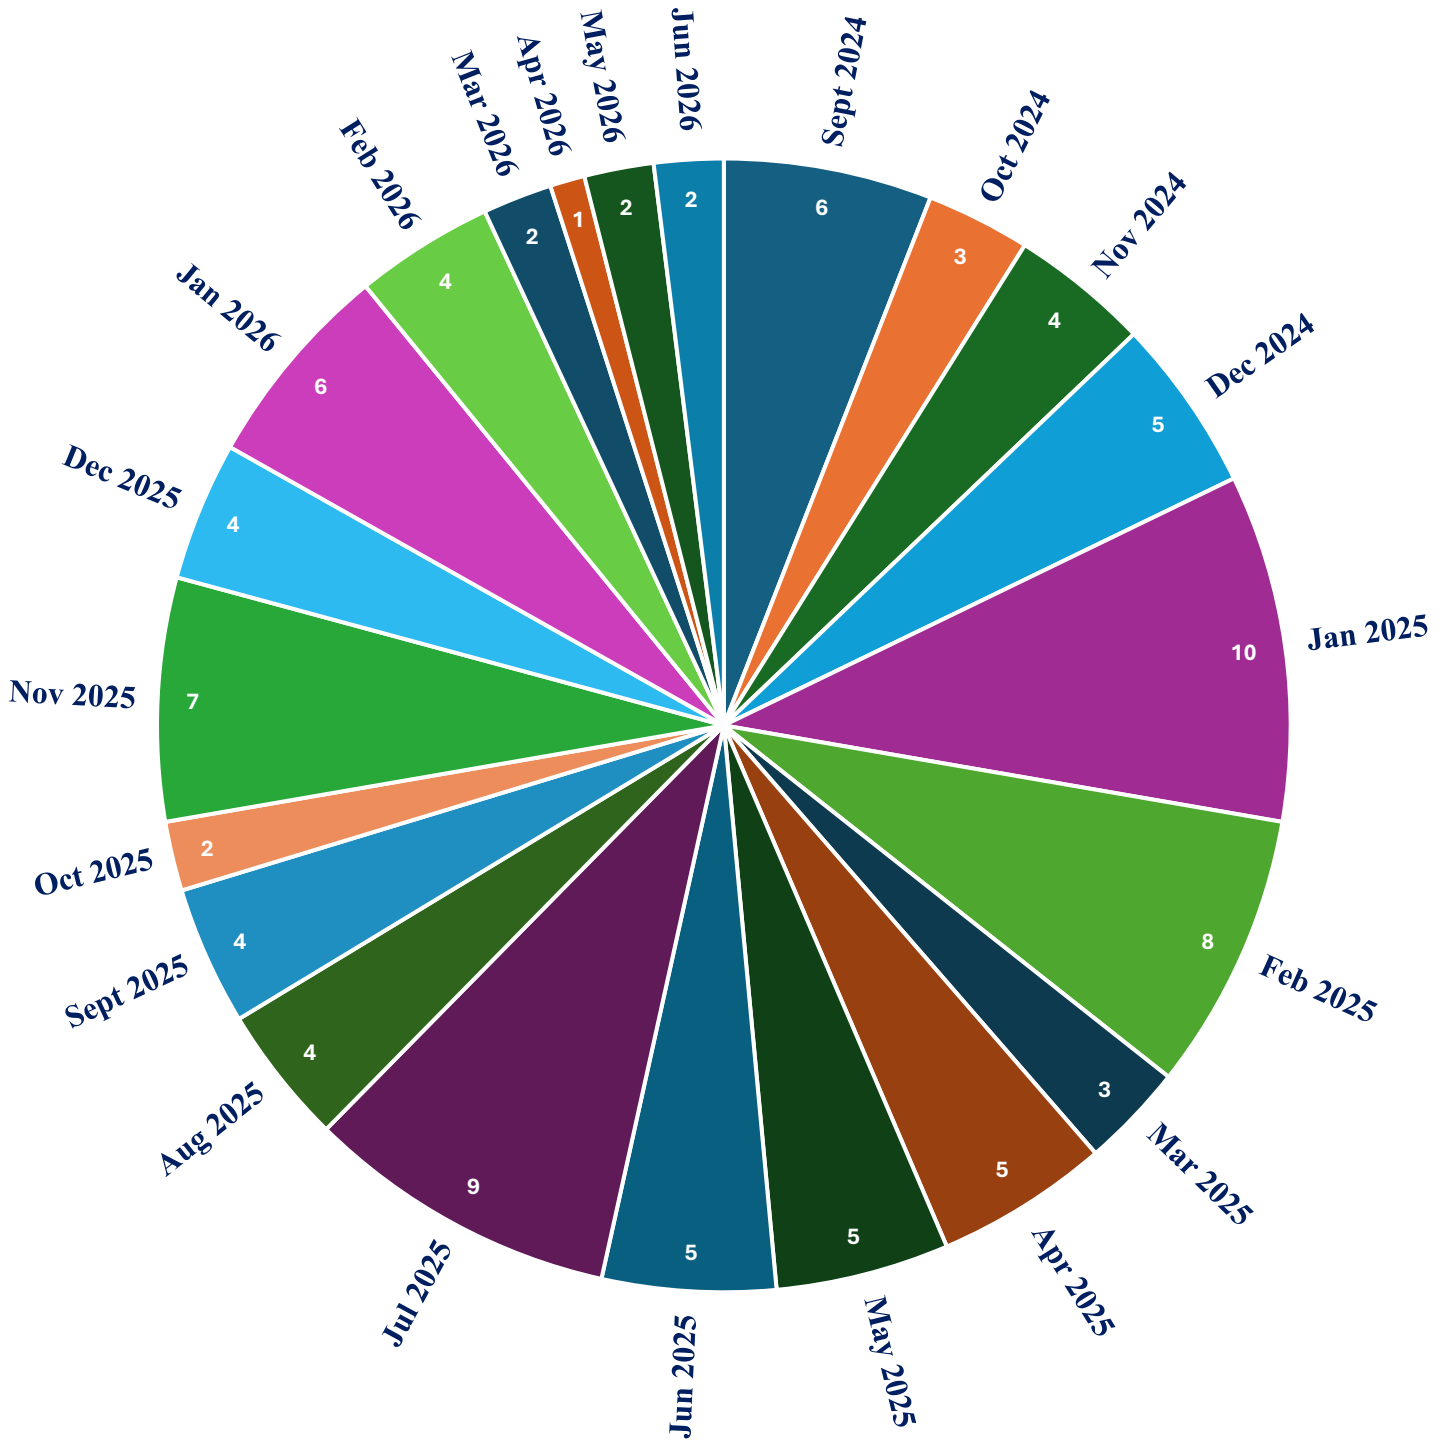

We further call upon the United Nations, international and regional human rights mechanisms, democratic governments, and global institutions committed to justice and the protection of human rights to support independent international inquiries into custodial deaths in Bangladesh. Where credible evidence establishes criminal responsibility, those responsible should be held accountable through fair and impartial judicial proceedings.

Justice for victims, accountability for perpetrators, and institutional reform are essential to restoring public confidence in the rule of law and preventing future human rights violations.

Global Center for Democratic Governance

About this report

This report documents custodial deaths in Bangladesh during the 22-month period from September 2024 to June 2026. It is prepared to support factual documentation, transparency, accountability, and the protection of the right to life and due process.

Justice for victims, accountability for perpetrators, and institutional reform are essential to restoring public confidence in the rule of law.
